

Energize and motivate your team with Kevin Dunn's provocative and entertaining perspectives on corporate life and leadership, with an emphasis on character, values, and behaviors as the defining attributes of an inspired organization.

A charismatic and engaging speaker, Kevin has addressed people rallies, executive planning sessions, management conferences, youth groups, and Board of Directors meetings. His expertise is solidly grounded in real-life experience: he has headed a $4 billion division of a Fortune 100 company, provided his coaching and management expertise to organizations large and small, and is an adjunct professor in Leadership studies at Roosevelt University in Chicago. His presentations are customized for your needs and your people, and can be delivered as a stand-alone address or as a meeting segment.
